

Suzy's Fuzzy Greyhound Cocktail

Prep time: 10 minutes

Cook time: 0

Serves: 1

- 2 oz. ruby red grapefruit vodka
- 2 oz. grapefruit juice, freshly squeezed
- 1 oz. simple syrup
- 1 tbsp. aquafaba
- 2 ice cubes
- 2 grates of grapefruit zest

Directions:

1. Place vodka, grapefruit juice, simple syrup, aquafaba and ice cubes into a cocktail shaker, secure lid firmly.
2. Shake 1 minute.
3. Strain drink into a cocktail coup.
4. Finish with a few grates of grapefruit zest.

Notes: To make simple syrup, mix 1 cup granulated sugar with 1 cup water. Bring to a boil to dissolve sugar. Cool and refrigerate in a jar.

What the heck is aquafaba?! It's the brine drained from a can of chickpeas that's virtually flavorless. Aquafaba is vegan and can replace egg whites in cocktails to give them froth and a nice mouth feel.

I created this cocktail in memory of all the rescued greyhounds Clark and I adopted over the years. As greyhounds age, their sleek coat gets thicker and fuzzier. Cheers to you, Fox!
